

Prof. Willard H. Morse, M. D., and Fellow of the London Society of Science, who has made a careful study of Munyon's Paw-Paw as a cure for Catarrh, says: "Munyon's Paw-Paw cures Catarrh through a physiological action which removes all foul and unhealthy mucous of a catarrhal character. It renovates the mucous surfaces, drives out the catarrhal poison wherever it finds lodgment, cleans house, as it were, and in so doing cures Catarrh or Gastritis, and restores healthful conditions."

Catarrh is a National Disease. It afters the Head Throat Kidneys, Stomach and Liver, through acute or chronic inflammation of the membranes and its sues. In its train and because of its inroads on the system-follows Consumption and other fatal diseases.

A person who has sood digestion and pure blood rarely has Catarrh or Rheumatism. Therefore, the remedy that will put the stomach and blood in condition will surely cure those diseases. There is not a mail but what brings me testimontals from people that have been cured MUNYON.

THE CRIME.

On the pight of December 12, 1903, John Clemente was walking down the street in West Point, Va., and Mr. Hobough was coming up the street, and in passing Mr. Hobough and Clements brushed against each other; whereupon Mr. Hobough turned and apologized. Clementa cursed him, and Mr. Hobough knocked him down, and upon promise that he would not interfere again with him, permitted him to get up.

COLD-BLOODED.

COLD-BLOODED.

Mr. Hobough went on to attending to his husiness, and about ten or fifteen minutes later Clements approached Mr. Hobough at his back and shot him. Mr. Hobough ran and fell in Mr. Pilcher's stora door. Clements pursued him and shot him again while lying in the door. Mr. Hobough lingered until December 23d, and dled at the Virginia Hospital, in Richmond.

Mr. Hobough was from Pennsylvania, and a thrifty farmer and highly though of, and leaves a widow and saveral small children. Claments came from Baltimore to West Point the early part of last fail.

The trial took place at the February term of the new King William Circuit Court and was represented by Mr. A Julian Bagby, of West Point.

Norfolk Medical Society Succeeds in Convicting an Illegal Practitioner of Medicine.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) NORFOLK, VA., March 11 .- The Norolk authorities have been asked to be on the lookout for the man who was shot while trying to enter the room of Miss Ophelia Cowper at Suffolk Wednes-day night. It is believed that the man may have come to Norfolk seeking medical attention. No trace of him has as yet been found, however.

A very remarkable case, in which an old lady of distinguished bearing, and attended by a mald, figures, may have a Richmond sequel. The mysterious lady is known as Miss Talbot. She is an invalid, and is believed to have gone to Richmond to-day. She has been trying to locate Miss Ethel Taibot Meeks, daughter of Mr. W. A. Meeks, of Nor-folk, and has stated to local newspaper men that she wished to adopt her as the agent of Lord Talbot, Earl of Shrews bury, England. Miss Meeks is veven-teen years old.

SATISFIED WITH HER LOT. She met Miss Talbot at the Chesapeake and Ohio Raliway wharf. The young lady told her that she had a father and mothor, and had no wish to he adopted by any one. Miss Talbot rofused to see Miss Meeks's father or brother. She may take further action in Richmond, but she left no address in that city.

Rev. Dr. Charles Krants, representing the publishing house of the church, also addressed the conference in behalf of his work.

A CONVICTION.

A CONVICTION.

The Norfolk Medical Society succeeded to-day in convicting one of the number of alleged illegal practitioners of medicine whom it is prosecuting. He was J. Wesley Collis, and he was fined $50 for practicing medicine without a certificate from the State examiners. He offered as a defense that he did not practice medicine, but merely sold remedies. Witnesses were introduced to disprove this statement. One man testified that Collis put a plaster on his head to cure stomach trouble.

James Harvey, known as Professor Harvey, was acquitted on, a similar charge.

The work of widening the harbor will be started at once. The Sanford and Brooks Company are bringing their machinery from Baltimore as rapidly as possible, and the $175,000 job will be at once started. United States engineers will supervise the matter.

matter reveals the fact that the authorities have not the slightest idea where he is.

The public generally blame the death watch for his escape, as it was his duty to not leave the prisoner for a moment, and had he attended to his dutes it would have been impossible for him to escape. It seems as though everything worked exactly right for Kennedy's escape. The death watch was away from his post of duty at the critical moment; an iron rod was at hand which conveniently fitted the padiocks securing the cell door; towels to tie and handkrachiefs to gag the "trusty;" there was a rubber hose at hand long enough to reach from the fourth story to the ground; a window barred with just the sort of material that Kennedy was used to working with, and after he had safely landed in the jail yard by the "gum hose" route he found a plank of the right length and strong enough to hold his weight, while he scaled the high wall. The only element absent seems to be a biack, fleet footed charger, just outside the jail wall.

The grand jury is now in session, and investigating Kennedy's escape. They were instructed to look into the violation of the law as to whether there was any crimital negligence in the escape of Kennedy.
